

The Role of the Teacher

By:Brooks Ikeh

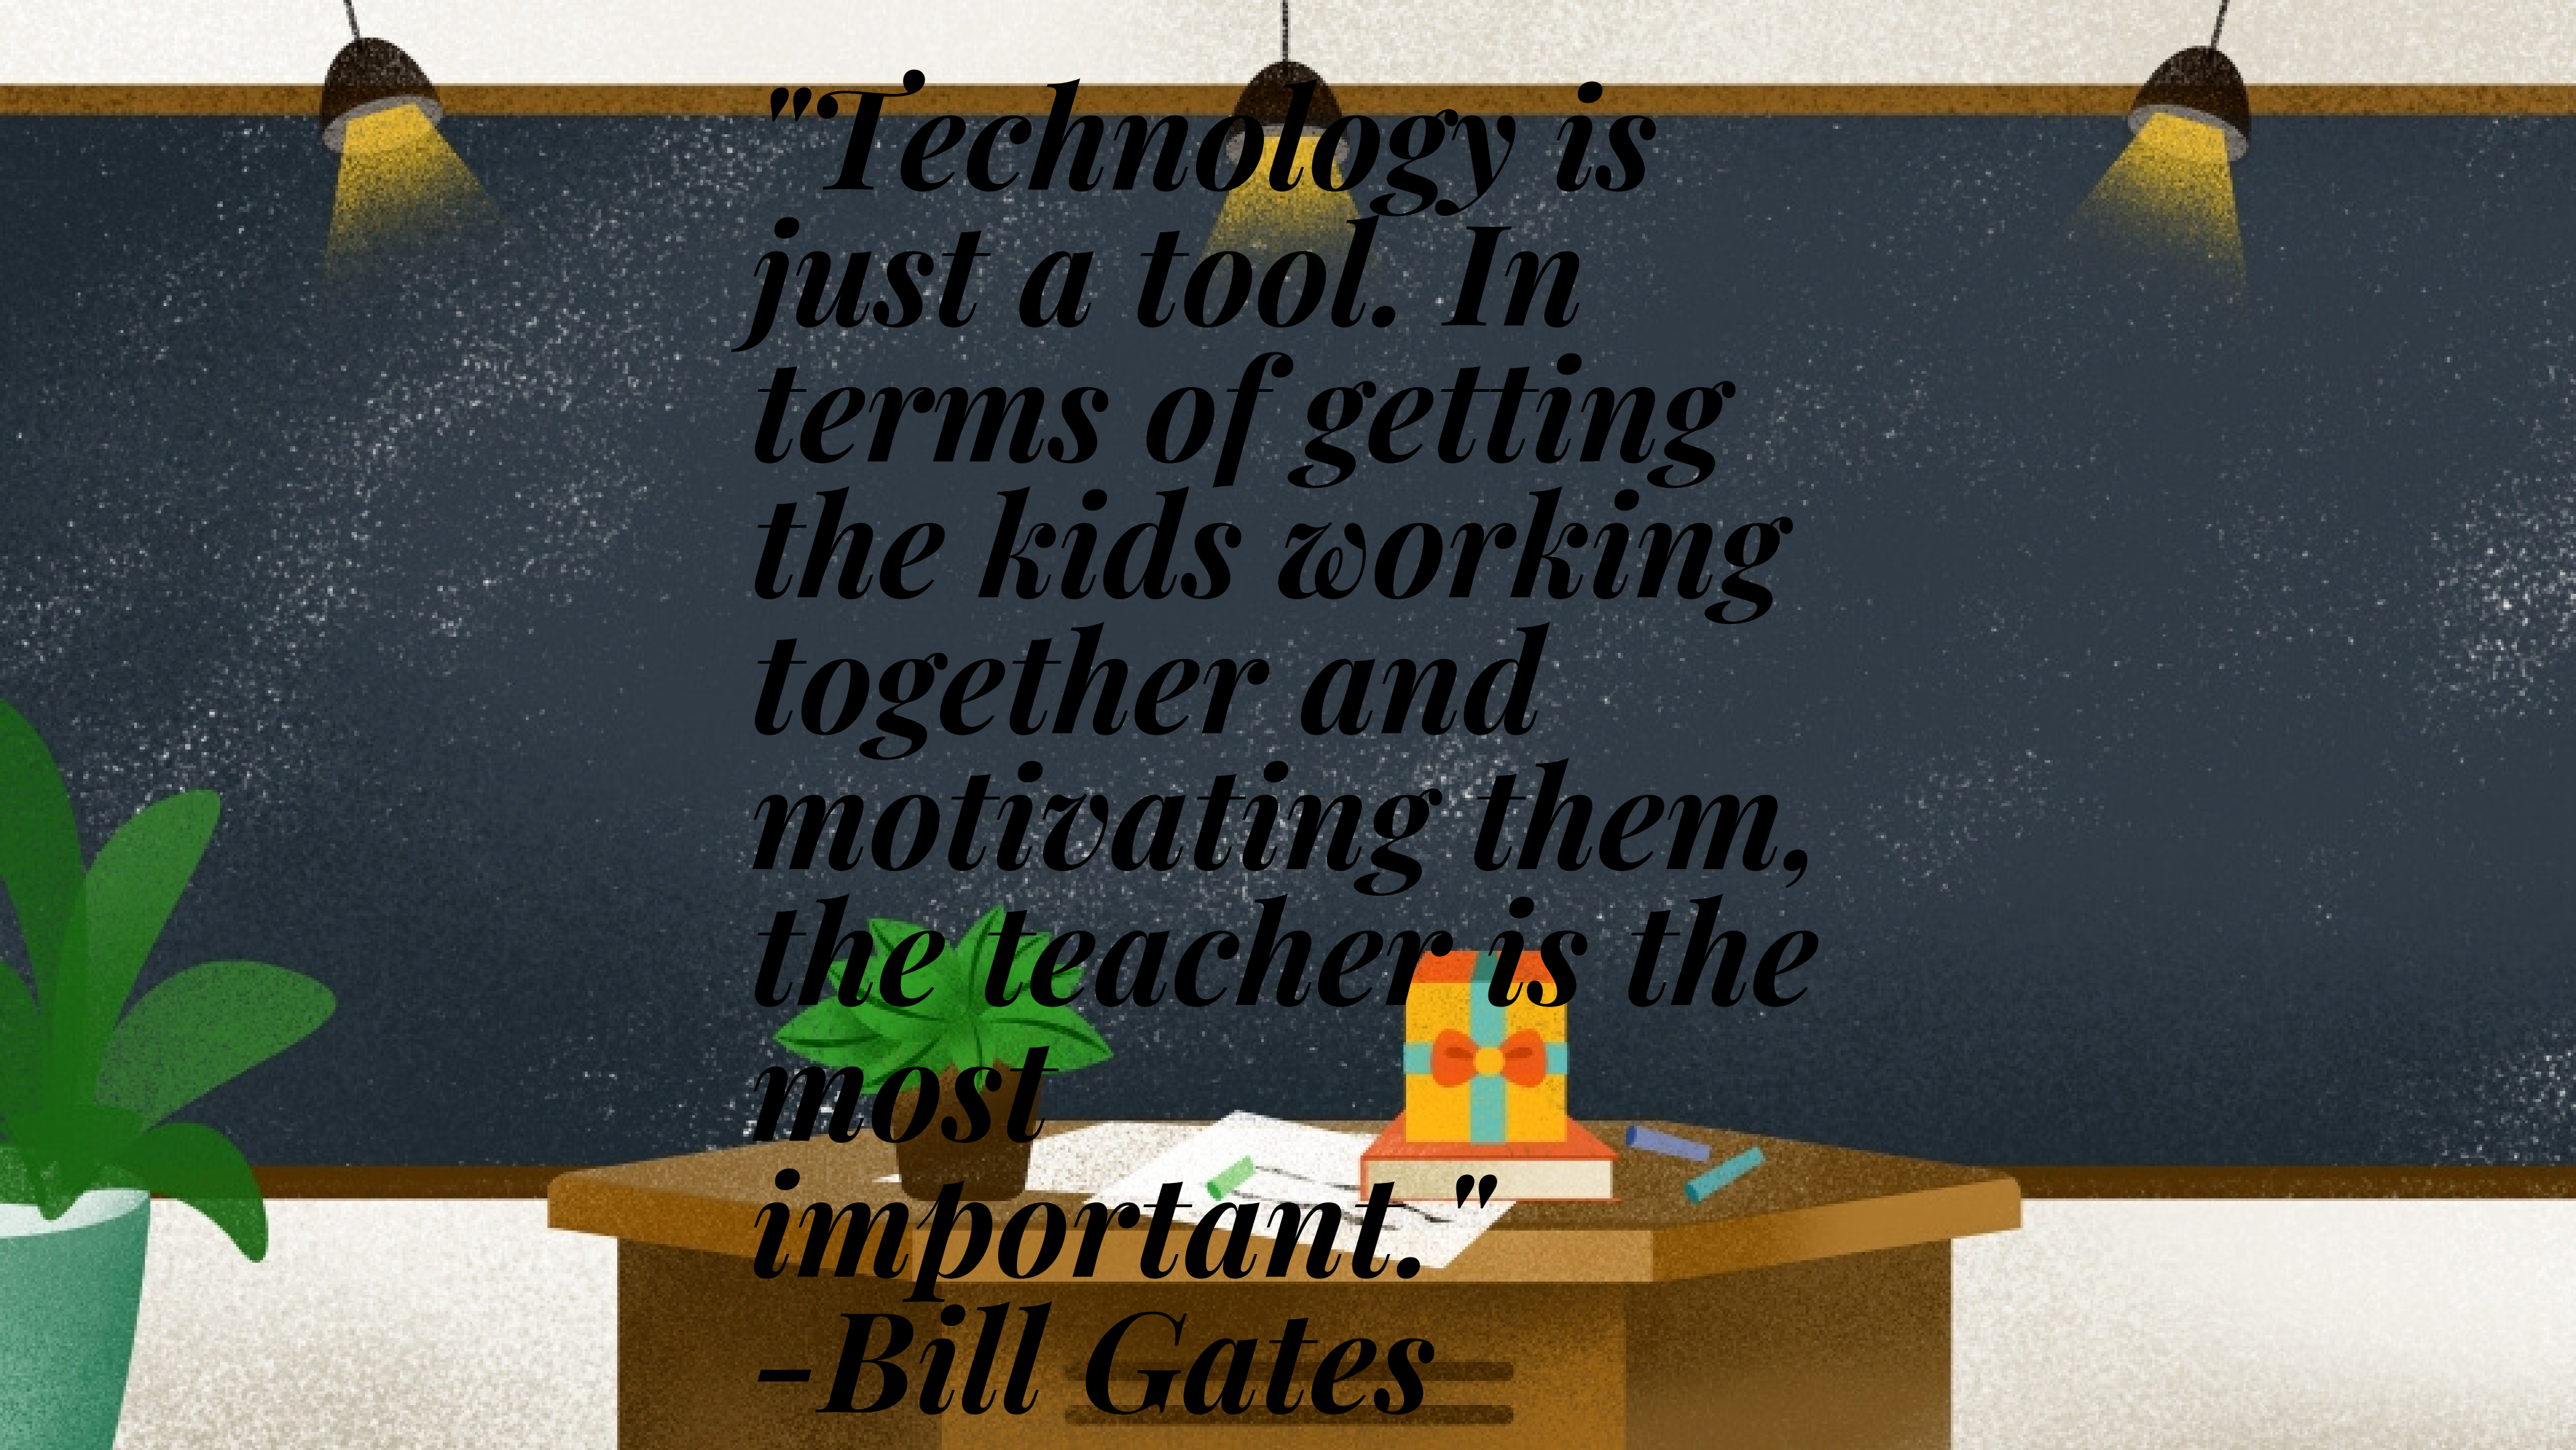

A stack of several books is shown on the right side of the image. The books have various colored spines: green, pink, yellow, and blue. The text is overlaid on the right side of the image, appearing as if it is written on the books. The background is a soft, out-of-focus green and white bokeh.

"FOR A TEACHER TO COMMUNICATE
THE VISION OF THE GOOD LIFE, HE MUST FIRST HAVE THE VISION HIMSELF."

-IRVING
LAYTON

"Teaching is a very noble profession that shapes the character, caliber, and future of an individual."

-A.B.J Abdul Kalam

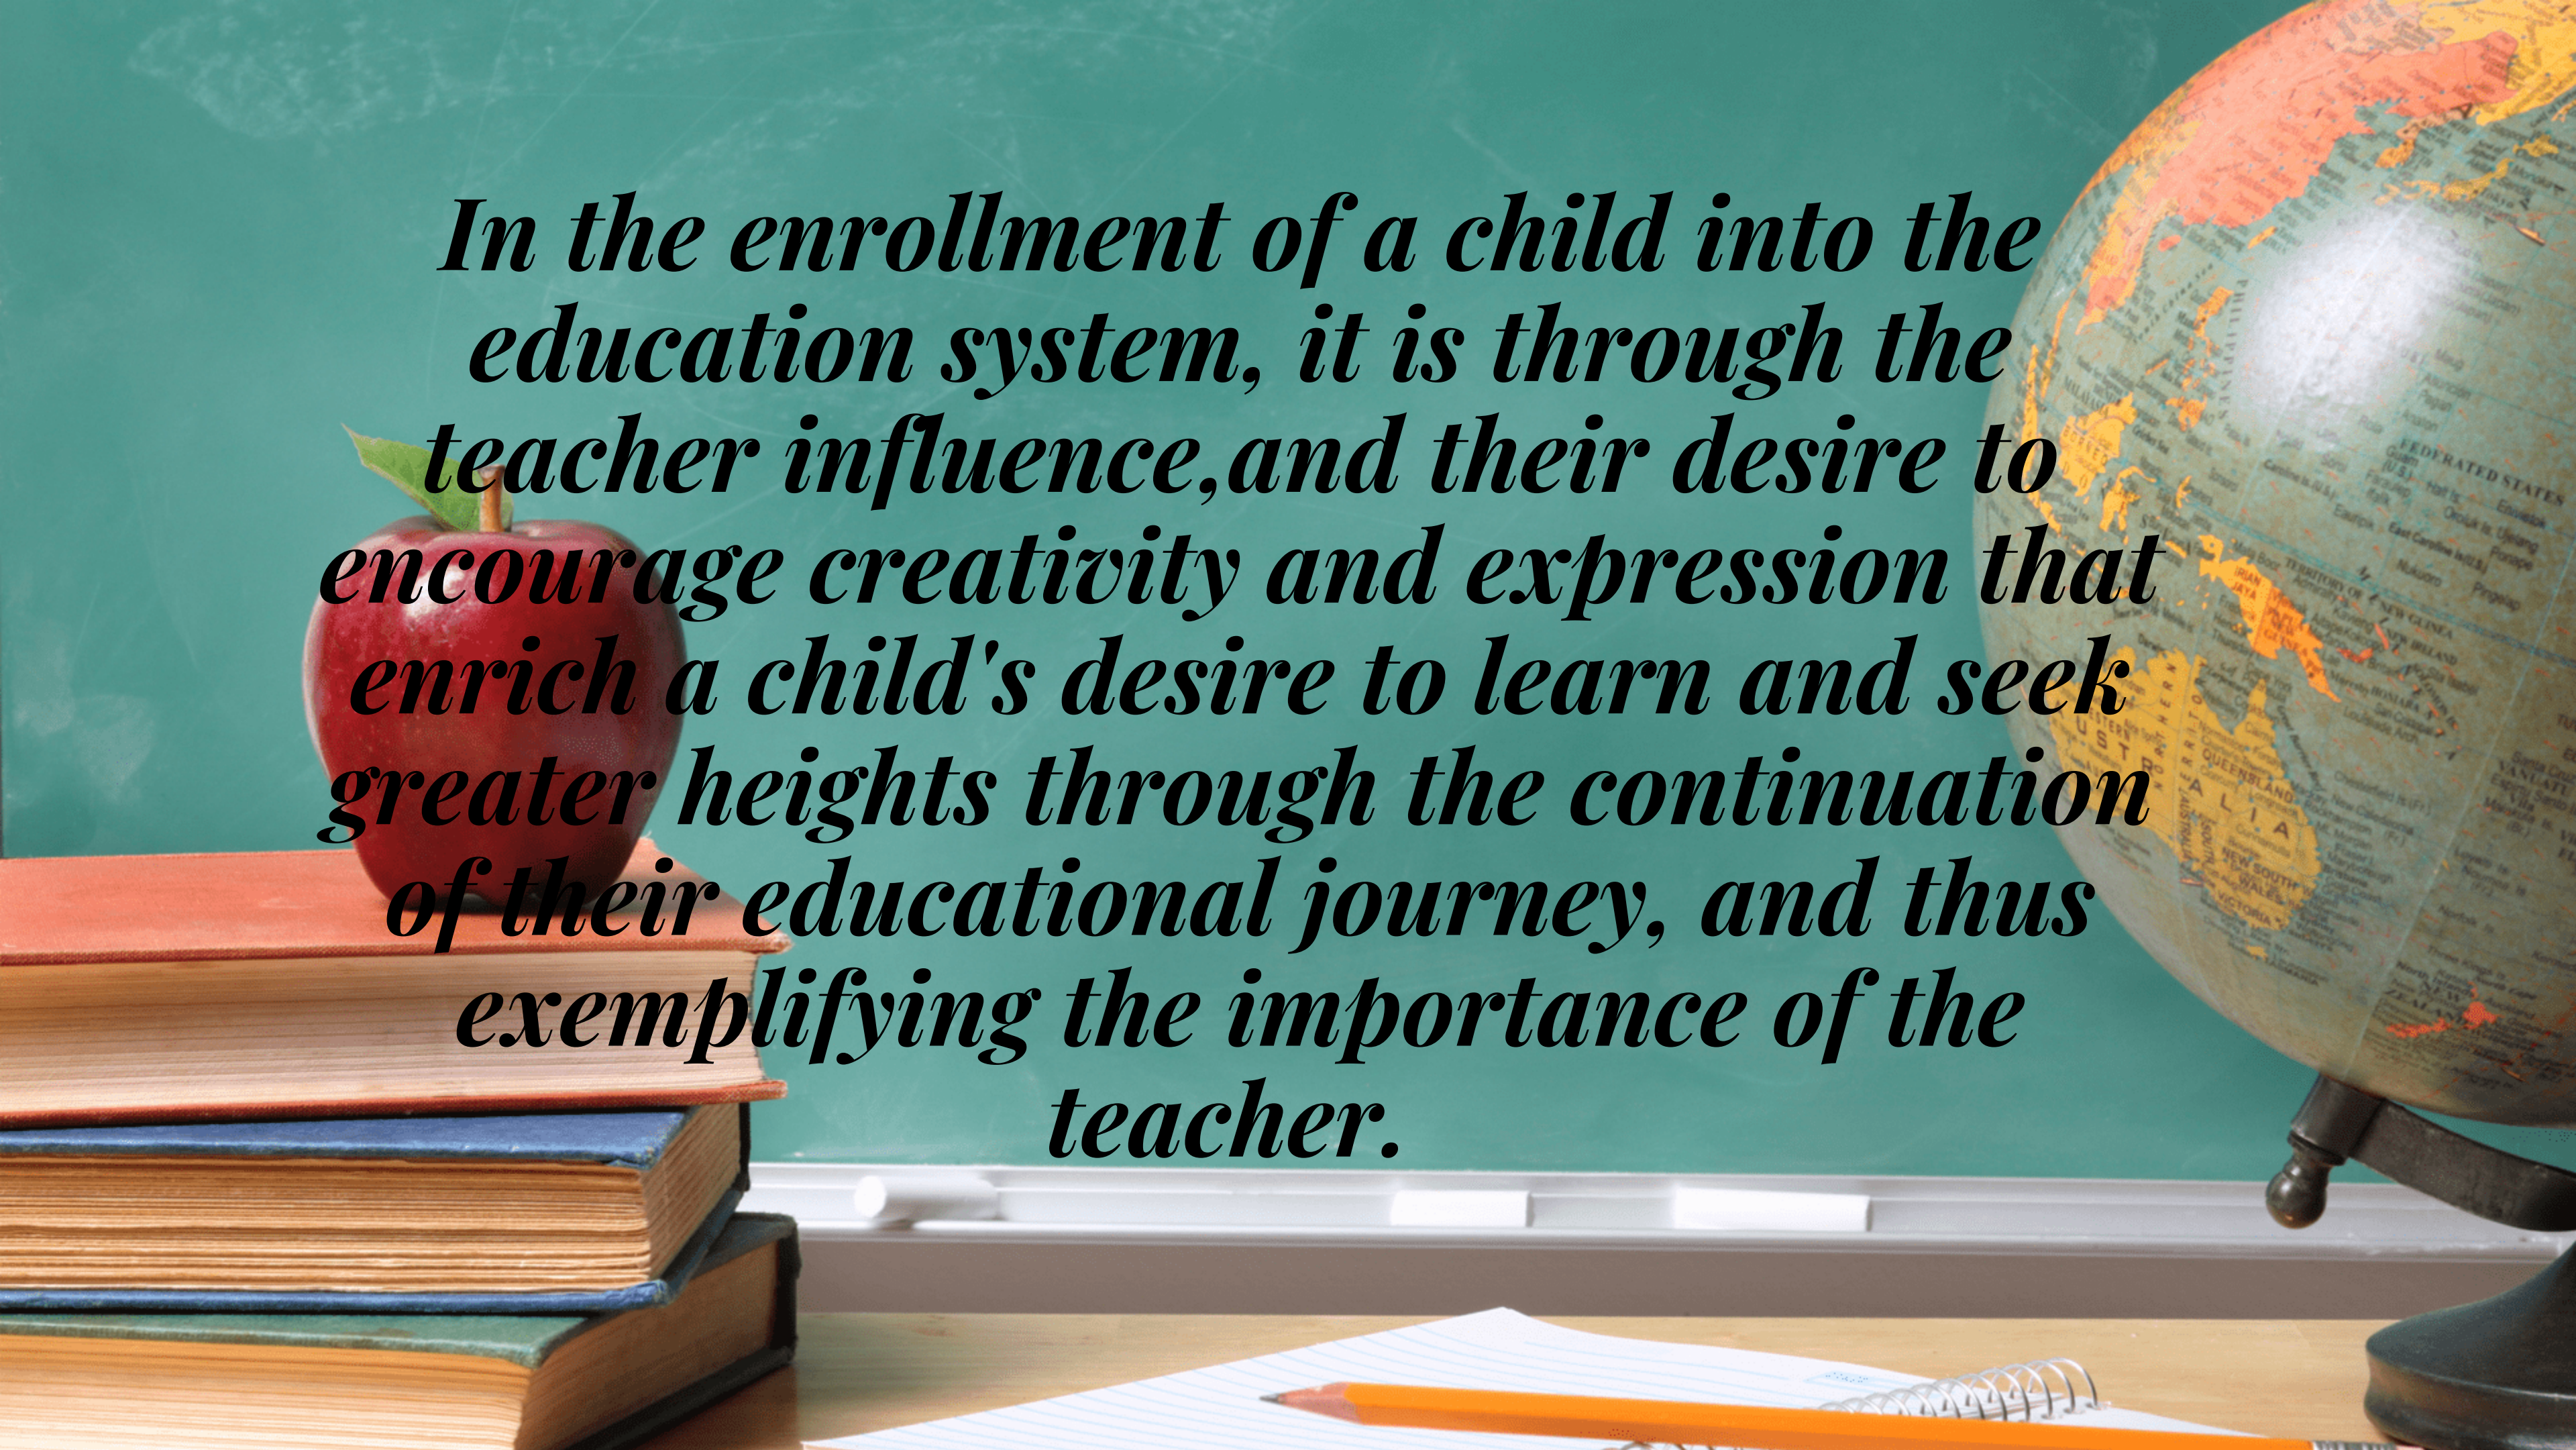

"Technology is just a tool. In terms of getting the kids working together and motivating them, the teacher is the most important."
–Bill Gates

"Everyone who remembers his own education remembers teachers, not methods and techniques. The teacher is the heart of the educational system."

-Sidney Hook

A composite image featuring a stack of books, a red apple, a globe, and a notebook with a pencil, set against a chalkboard background. The text is overlaid on the image in a large, black, italicized serif font.

In the enrollment of a child into the education system, it is through the teacher influence, and their desire to encourage creativity and expression that enrich a child's desire to learn and seek greater heights through the continuation of their educational journey, and thus exemplifying the importance of the teacher.
